

Document ID FIN-004	Title Use of 1099 Hires	Date 03/25/13
Revision 0	Prepared by C. Schimpf	Approved Audit Committee

Policy

Hiring a non-employee individual to perform professional services (such as a musician) requires that we treat that person as a 1099 contractor, submitting a 1099 for the year if his or her wages exceed $600 during the calendar year.

Purpose

Persons paid on a 1099 basis are independent contractors and are self-employed. Independent contractors are required to pay all self-employment taxes (Social Security & Medicare) as well as income tax and do not receive any type of employment benefits.

This procedure describes how to deal with a non-employee individual who does not represent an incorporated entity and who is paid to perform services for the church.

Procedures

1. Whenever an individual falls into the category of "independent contractor" he is required to fill out and sign a Form W-9, Request for Taxpayer Identification Number and Certification, before beginning work. The Form W-9 provides the correct taxpayer identification number and certifies that the individual is not subject to backup withholding.
2. The person representing the church in such transactions is responsible for obtaining the completed form from the individual being hired. The completed and signed form must be provided to the church office prior to work being completed.
3. The person representing the church in such transactions is also responsible for submitting a check request form for payment for services rendered. Checks will not be issued unless a completed and signed Form W-9 is on file.
4. The Form W-9 is valid until a change of information requires an updated executed form.
5. The completed Form W-9 is kept on file in the office and used to complete 1099-MISC forms for the contractors that were paid $600.00 or more during the calendar year.
6. Form 1096 is filed with the Internal Revenue Service and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, showing the total amounts on the 1099 forms.

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on the "Name" line to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Part II Certification

Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:

1. The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me), and
2. I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding, and
3. I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below).

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 4.

General Instructions

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Purpose of Form

A person who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) to report, for example, income paid to you, real estate transactions, mortgage interest you paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, or contributions you made to an IRA.

Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN to the person requesting it (the requester) and, when applicable, to:

1. Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
2. Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
3. Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income.

Note. If a requester gives you a form other than Form W-9 to request your TIN, you must use the requester's form if it is substantially similar to this Form W-9.

Definition of a U.S. person. For federal tax purposes, you are considered a U.S. person if you are:

- An individual who is a U.S. citizen or U.S. resident alien,
- A partnership, corporation, company, or association created or organized in the United States or under the laws of the United States,
- An estate (other than a foreign estate), or
- A domestic trust (as defined in Regulations section 301.7701-7).

Special rules for partnerships. Partnerships that conduct a trade or business in the United States are generally required to pay a withholding tax on any foreign partners' share of income from such business. Further, in certain cases where a Form W-9 has not been received, a partnership is required to presume that a partner is a foreign person, and pay the withholding tax. Therefore, if you are a U.S. person that is a partner in a partnership conducting a trade or business in the United States, provide Form W-9 to the partnership to establish your U.S. status and avoid withholding on your share of partnership income.
